Disclaimer: This document does not provide information on primary care or specialty care providers. Please go to www.cdc.gov/hepatitis/Partners/AVHPC.htm to find additional information on your state's viral hepatitis program and services.

Introduction

The National Viral Hepatitis Resource Directory is a compilation of national agencies, health departments, and community-based organizations that provide viral hepatitis services and resources in order to assist you in locating the closest services in your area. It was last updated as of November 14, 2010.

How to Use this Directory

This directory is alphabetically sorted by state. There are several ways that you can find services in your area.

Health Departments

In every state, and some cities, there is a health department staff person called the Adult Viral Hepatitis Prevention Coordinator (AVHPC), responsible for overseeing prevention efforts of viral hepatitis in your area. This staff person is a great resource to find further information and services. There is also a health department staff person called the Perinatal Hepatitis B Coordinator responsible for overseeing prevention and control efforts of hepatitis B perinatal transmission, or mother-to-child transmission. This staff person is a great resource to find further information specific to hepatitis B if you are a pregnant woman or are infected with hepatitis B and planning to have a child. The most up-to-date contact information of health department staff can be found at www.cdc.gov/hepatitis/Partners/AVHPC.htm for the AVHPCs and www.cdc.gov/vaccines/vpd-vac/hepb/perinatal-contacts.htm for the Perinatal Hepatitis B Coordinators.

American Liver Foundation Chapters

The American Liver Foundation provides support services nationwide through its chapters to “advocate and promote education, support and research for the prevention, treatment and cure of liver disease.” This directory can help you locate the chapter located closest to you.

National and State Organizations

There are a number of national and state organizations that provide direct services related to viral hepatitis and/or can provide further information and referral to treatment and care for people infected with viral hepatitis.

Additional Information

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s (CDC) Division of Viral Hepatitis and CDC’s National Prevention Information Network (NPIN) are the nation’s lead agencies on viral hepatitis and public health information. You can find the Division of Viral Hepatitis’s website at www.cdc.gov/hepatitis and NPIN’s viral hepatitis website at www.cdcnpin.org/scripts/hepatitis/index.asp.
